

Next Generation Leadership

Developing leaders for a complex world

Why should you be interested?

Do you believe that a new kind of leadership is needed for the complex world we live in? Would you like to know what it looks like? And how to develop leaders for tomorrow? Then you have to join us.

We are excited to have two of the world's most inspiring thought leaders on next generation leadership talk about the five stages of vertical development.

Learn from Jennifer Garvey Berger, a world renowned thought leader and practitioner in the field:

- How does vertical development transform the way you develop and deploy leaders in your organisation?
- What does the increasing complexity of the world we are living and working in call for in terms of vertical development?

Learn from Zafer Achi, ex-McKinsey partner with 30+ years global experience in the Strategy and Leadership Development Field:

- Horses for courses: Seeing vertical development as a matching algorithm, rather than a ladder
- Tilting the odds in our favour: Why it matters, how to accelerate the development of post conventional leaders in all corners of the planet
